You're invited to a workshop that uses original artwork from Sheldon Museum of Art's touring exhibition Depicting Nature: From the Scientific to the Sublime to empower you in the implementation of Nebraska's recently adopted visual arts standards.

The 2015 Sheldon Statewide Classroom Arts Initiative workshops are scheduled from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on the following dates:

Saturday, January 10: Chadron State College
Tuesday, March 10: Falls City Library and Arts Center
All workshops are FREE and include lunch.

Each workshop gives teachers hands-on experience with art materials and techniques, makes direct and practical connections with classroom objectives, and provides take-home curriculum resources.

Bus grants are available to assist with expenses through Nebraska Arts Council, but must be applied for early due to a four-week application deadline. See details at nebraskaartscouncil.org/grants.

For more information or to register, email Mary Stoner at mary.stoner@unl.edu. Please REGISTER two weeks in advance and provide the following: your name, school, grade levels and subject areas in which you teach, email address, phone number, and any dietary restrictions.

The 28th annual Sheldon Statewide exhibition and the Classroom Arts Initiative workshops are made possible by the generous support of the Sheldon Art Association, Nebraska Arts Council and Nebraska Cultural Endowment, Farmers Mutual Insurance of Nebraska, and James and Rhonda Seacrest.
